Sow the Elections Show Its Prob able Composition.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 .- The list gives w shows the latest authentic complia according to the returns, of the mem-elect to the Fiftieth Congress with political status. Members of the minth Congress who have been reelected are marked with a star. The First California district is still in doubt, requirng official count to determine. The Cole hough in this case the Democratic commi largely favoring the Democratic candidate. The Second West Virginia district is claimed by both parties, and is still in oubt with the probability of the election of the Democratic candidate. In Virginia, while the list shows that Virginia, while the list shows that the delegation stands: Democrats 3, Republicans 5, Labor 1, and Independent 1; yet the political classification should be Republicans 6 and Democrats 4, since Brown, Independent, of the Fifth district, will vote with the Republicans, and Hopkins, Labor, of the Sixth district, is a Democrat and will asked with his party.

The present situation is summarized as

The present situation is summarized as ollows: Democrats, 165; Republicans, 152; md-pendents, 3; Labor, 2; doubtful, 3; no holce, 1; total, 125. The Democratic com-nittee claim that with the 165 assured mittee claim that with the 165 assured Democrats, and the present doubts being resolved in their favor, the political status of the Fiftieth Congress will be at least 169 Democrate to 156 opposition, being a clear Democrate majority of 13. This is predicted upon the assumption that the vacant Rhode Island district will be Republican. The next flouse will probably be as follows:

At 8:45 the President, the Governor and General Dalton took their seats in a carriage drawn by four white horses. The remainder of the party were piaced in carriages and the procession started. Commonwealth avenue was alive with people, who greeted the President enthusiastically. As the procession started battery C boomed forth a salute. The procession moved rapidly on its way to Cambridge. Every street through which it passed was through with people and cheer after cheer went up as the carriages rolled by. When the city proper had been passed through and the bridge reached the party struck a lively pace and rattled away to Cambridge.

The Presidential party arrived at Harvard College soon after ten o'clock and were College soon after ten o'clock and were received at Gore Hail by President Eilot. The procession to Saunders' theater was then formed, under the chief marshalship of Colonel Henry Lee, and started at 10:15.

At the close of Mr. Lowell's address the choius rendered Beethoven's "The Heavens Proclaim Him."

The poem of the day was read by Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes and "An Almichty Fottress is Our God" was then sung by the chorus.

AN OSTRICH RACE.

Signatic Birds Who Moved at the Rate of Fouriers Feet per Stride.

I reminded the doctor of a promise he had made to show me a foot rac between ostriches. We immediately went to a broad, open space between the ostrich pens and the house. One of the keepers opened the door of one of the pens, and in response to the doctor's call, two superb ostriches doctor's call, two superb ostriches came running to him. After caressing the gentle creatures for a few moments he showed them a handful of figs, of which they are extremely fond. Two of his men then restrained the birds by placing nooses about their legs until he and myself had walked away about a quarter of a mile. Then, at a signal from the doctor the birds were rei. sed and the race began. It was a rare sight. Ornithologists tell us that the stride of the ostrich when feeding is from 20 to 22 inches; when walking, but not feeding. 26 inches; and when terrified, from 11½ to 14 feet. It seemed to me that in this race for a handful of figs from their master, these gigantic birds covered the last named distance at every stride. Like the wind they came, their great necks stretched forward and upward to their utmost length, and their wings working. They kept well abreast for nearly half the distance and then one began to forge ahead. He invesaed his lead until within a short distance of us, when he turned his heal, and seeing that his competitor was considerably in the rear, he slackened his pace, and jogging up to the doctor received his reward in figs and caresses.—Los Angeles Cor. The Solidity of Berlin.

Berlin is a solid city, for the Berlin character is deep and substantial. Its solidity is more manifest than its good taste, though this is by no means always lacking. Since Germany has en-deavored to compete with France in the markets of the world she has at-tempted to imitate French goods, even those into which art largely enters, but those into which art largely enters, but with imperfect success. German cloths are not equal to those of either England, France or Belgium. German hosiery is invariably poor. German hosiery is honest, but not as tasteful as that made in Paris or in New York and San Francisco. So with the infinite category of fancy goods. A shop window on the Unter den Linden does not compare favorably with one on the Paris boulevards, either in respect to quality of goods, elegance of pattern or Paris boulevards, either in respect to quality of goods, elegance of pattern or taste of arrangement. Whether it is a suit of clothes, a night shirt, a necktie, or a set of toilet articles, the want of skill in making and of taste in designing is seen at a glance. On the other hand, there is no apparent effort to make a thing seem better than it is. On this point the purchaser is rarely deceived.—Cor. San Francisco Chronicle.

—A year ago a bogus dispatch was sent from Washington saying that Senator Pike had dropped dead in the street on the way to his office. To some newspaper men who called on him that evening he said: "This bogus dispatch has accurately described the manner of my taking off. I shall digust as suddenly as that person described. I shall go out like a flash, without a moment's warning, save what my doctor has given me." Just one year to a day from that date Senator Pike dropped dead while on his way to his office. — Washington Post.

"Do you know of Dr. Underhill's case here in Cincinnati!"

"That leading physician who became a victim of the cocaine habit! Yes. His case was a very sad one, but the habit can be cured. I have rescued many a man from a worse condition."

"What, worse than Dr. Underhill's!"

"Indeed, sir, far so. Justin M. Hall, A. M., M. D., president of the State Board of Health of Iowa, and a famed practitioner, and Alexander Nell, M. D., professor of surgery in the Columbus Medical College, and president of the Academy of Medicine, a man widely known, Rav. W. P. Clancey, of Indianapolis, Ind., from personal experience in opium eating, etc., can tell you of the kind of success our form of treatment wins, and so can H. C. Wilson, formerly of Cincinnati, who is now associated with me."

"Would you mind letting our readers into the secret of your methods?"

"Well, young man, you surely have a good bit of assurance to ask a man to give his business away to the public; but I won't wholly disappoint you. I have treated over 20,000 patients. In common with many eminent physiciana, I, for years made a close study of the effects of the habits on the system and the organs which they most severely attack. Dr. Hall, Dr. Neil and Mr. Wilson, whom I have mentioned, and hundreds of others, equally as expert, made many similar experiments on their own behalf. We each found that these drugs worked most destructively in the kidneys and liver; in fact, finally destroyed them. It was then apparent that no cure could be effected until those organs could be restored to health. We recently exhausted the entire range of medical science, experimenting with all known remedies for these organs, and as the result of these close investigations we all substantially agreed, though following different lines of inquiry, that the most reliable, scientific preparation, was Warner's safe cure. This was the second point in the discovery. The third was our own private form of treatment, which, of course, we do not divulge to the public. Every case that we have t
